

Dear {{ contact.FIRSTNAME }},

It's the moment you've been waiting for! Or so it seems... Let me start with stating the truth first: Trading in any financial market (including Cryptocurrencies) is a probabilities based game.

No matter how "confident" or "convinced you might be about what "you" think will happen next in the markets, don't forget that for any one of you, there's someone else thinking how they can make money as well...

What can you do against this? Be aware (no pun intended). have a plan of action and ALWAYS be prepared, not for IF you will be wrong, but WHEN you will be wrong.

Having cleared that off the chest, there is opportunity right now, especially since we have technically confirmed an Altcoin Cycle, according to us.

Remember that Altcoins do carry a larger risk than Bitcoin, obviously. But you can't make more Bitcoins trading Bitcoin (unless you trade on leverage), but that is out of scope for this week's issue.

Most of you will be better off trading with your own money, based on statistics and experience. If this statement hurts your feelings and ego, well good then. Feel free to prove us wrong, it's your money :)

Anyways, think you got the message.

Let's check what the charts are showing us!

Yours sincerely,

Faro

Cryptocurrencies Total Market Cap

Total Cryptocurrencies Market Capitalization

We technically broke out of the falling wedge (in blue) and met its target to the upside which was just below $2 Trillion. It is currently consolidating and looking healthy. It could retrace a bit from here to $1.7 Trillion - there is good buying support there. Personally, would be looking to add risk at that level. We are also still within the larger rising wedge/pennant in yellow, that has its technical target at $2.66 Trillion. The bullish biased expectation is still for it to break out to the upside.

In case it does come down to $1.7 Trillion and breaks below this level with large selling volume, then the Crypto market could retrace further and I would personally take risk off that that point and look to buy in at lower levels. For now, this is the least probably scenario.

Bitcoin Market Dominance - Alt Season!

Bitcoin Market Dominance - BTC.D

Hopefully, you can see it on the charts and interpret it correctly. Technically, we broke the 60% market dominance level for Bitcoin, which is key. We've had good follow through so far and expecting the Altcoins to gain momentum and outperform Bitcoin.

This is the time to be in Altcoins, more than ever before. It's hard to not be excited right now, as I personally think this moment provided the best entry for Alts since 2017.

So far so good, but preferably we'd like to see a daily candle trying to retest the 60% level, that we broke down from after consolidating there since end of January of this year. The significance of this level, cannot be understated. If we retest and get rejected from the 60%, we will have the "official" confirmation of the breakdown.

Personally, after having been patiently waiting for this key moment to happen, I have already positioned myself in strong Altcoins projects with solid fundamentals and good chart setups.

One word of caution though: If you look at most charts of Altcoins, you will probably see a lot of good setups. Ofcourse you will, because the entire Crypto market is likely to go up and Altcoins more than Bitcoin. Therefore, knowing it can be hard to choose sometimes and it's impossible to be in all the right projects at the right time, all the time. I

It's better to just pick a few key projects that you will be able to commit to for a good 2-3 months period, define how much you are willing to invest, how much willing to lose and just do it.

Also have pre-defined exit levels where you will take profits, either in Bitcoin, Ethereum or even USD stablecoin, but have an exit strategy so you don't become a bag holder of your "favorite" altcoin when the party ends...

You should know by now what our exit strategy is, and if you don't then I recommend watching the video I made called "The Endgame for Bitcoin and Crypto's"; either on YouTube (click to see directly) or the Awareify platform under "Market Videos".

Super Macro - S&P500 and DXY

SPX (S&P500) and US Dollar Index (DXY)

To be completely honest with you, I don't exactly WTF is going with the DXY in particular right now.

The S&P 500 goes up, which makes sense because it's highly correlated to the Crypto's and moves more or less in sync, most of the time. So we can see right now that it broke out of the ascending triangle and it's on its way to meet the price target of around 4200.

But what I'm struggling with explaining is how the DXY (US Dollar) can rise in value, with the elites doing their QE to infinity and flooding the system with money.

This is concerning, to say the least and at this point I can only theorize and speculate what this could mean.

Please note that this is a very subjective opinion, so take it with a grain or salt...or better yet, do your own research and share your wisdom with all of us.

Theory 1 - The Dollar Milkshake Theory, explained in a 2min clip by Brent Johnson on Real Vision's Podcast from Raoul Pal, retired billionaire Macro Investor (link to video)

Theory 2 - Faro's theory: FED's using printed money buying their own assets (Bonds, Stocks) + other countries fleeing to US dollar to feed their families due to hyperinflation (e.g. Argentina, Venezuela, Iran, etc).
